

POPO Bremen - Digital Transformation with Google Workspace

happtiq has partnered with POPO to help it moving the organization to Google Workspace and reimagine the way its employees work by taken on the task of driving forward digital transformation.

The challenge

The outdated on-premise infrastructure for mail, calendar and storage was a largely faced issue affecting productivity of POPO Bremen. Slow access, spam mails and no proper appointment organization options led to inconvenient operations within the organization.

The solution

All users of the company were migrated to Google Workspace by happtiq. POPO chose to use the the complete collaboration platform to guarantee a great experience for employees. From day one, happtiq and POPO closely worked together to increase Workspace adoption and design a new way to work.

The results

Workspace has contributed to reimagine work across the company. POPO employees can now work from everywhere and count on reliable tools such as Gmail, Calendar, and Drive. Communication, collaboration and appointment organization within the company and with customers moved to a new level which as a result greatly improved efficiency and productivity.

happtiq supported POPO to migrate all users to Google Workspace in a very short time. By guidance and a collaborated training approach, employees were brought up to speed and maximized the ability of POPO to truly collaborate and experience a genuine digital transformation.
